What is Your Favorite Thing About Fall?

By: Lorelai Young

I asked 4 teachers and 4 students what their favorite thing about fall is. Mrs. Hope loves pumpkin patches. Between the pumpkins, the photo ops, and the occasional pumpkin that costs more than expected, it's basically fall's version of a theme park. Ms. Teller said sweaters because they are warm and cozy. Finally, a fashion trend that basically feels like wearing a blanket in public. Ms. Campbell's favorite thing about fall is the weather. Mrs. Christopher likes the leaves changing color. Mother Nature really said, "Let's redecorate" and went all out. Avery & Norah both like the smells and the food. Basically, if fall had a candle and a snack aisle, they'd be sold. Finn likes how he can wear long sleeves. Of course, he'd probably wear them in the summer, too. So, is it really a fall thing, Finn? Ba-dum-tss! Fielding loves that it is hunting season. Amen to that – meat for days! I like the food and the drinks. All of these are amazing aspects of fall, but what is your favorite thing? And please tell me it's not pumpkin spice toothpaste.

Hunting with the Mountain Bros

By: Wade Christopher & Stetson Sandall

We are the Mountain Bros and we are going to tell you why Fall is a great time of the year to go Hunting. The first and obvious reason is because of the nice cool weather; the deer, elk and all the animals love the crisp air. Another reason is that the Fall also lands on the Rut which helps a lot for hunting due to the elk moving around a ton. This will allow more bulls to be visible more than the other seasons of the year. With the Rut, it is also mating season so the bulls are looking for females. Another reason fall is such a good time to hunt is that the animals are getting ready for winter so they are out looking for food. Last but not least, the colors of the trees change for a more scenic hunt which is nice for the hunters out there.

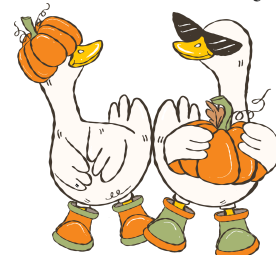

Autumn Leaves, Coffee Please

By: Norah Cravens & Avery Mitchell

Ever wonder why your teacher is holding a coffee cup like it contains the answers to the universe? Spoiler alert: it might. Last week we went around and asked seven teachers and faculty members what their favorite coffee is for fall. Ms. Teller said pumpkin cream cold brew, Mrs. Hope said pumpkin spice, Ms. Gabby said iced ube coconut macchiato, Mrs. Melissa said pumpkin spice. Mrs. Yellow said chocolate mocha, Mrs. Mel said dark brew, and Mrs. Christopher also said pumpkin spice. So there you have it folks; as the weather cools, teachers and staff look forward to enjoying their favorite fall coffees while making the most of the Autumn season.

Halloween vs. Thanksgiving

By: Finn Shaw & Andrew Miller

The two main holidays during fall are Halloween and Thanksgiving. We were curious as to which holiday people like more. Is it eating a bunch of candy and being spooked out or is it eating a delicious meal with family and friends while we show our thanks? We asked five middle school students to try and figure out the dilemma. Two students said Halloween, while three students said Thanksgiving. In middle school Thanksgiving won, but we wanted to know the vote for the whole school so we decided to ask three elementary school students as well. Out of the three elementary school students all of them said halloween! The final result ended up being Halloween. Imagine that! In the end, whether it's the spooky fun of Halloween or the family traditions of Thanksgiving, everyone has their own favorite way to celebrate the fall season!

No Tricks, Just Fits

By: Halle Peer

Halloween is comin’ up! So I just have one thing to ask you all.... What are you going to dress up as? I have asked three students around the school for their costume ideas. Starting with Caleb from 6th grade, he is going to dress up as Sherman from Mr. Peabody the movie! Noah from 2nd grade is going to be Mario and his dad is going to be Luigi; cute father and son bonding! Addy from 4th grade is going to be a Vampire; scary! For those of you who are wondering what I am going to be for Halloween? Im going to be M&M dressed up as Eminem..... Have a spooky Halloween Night!

Boo! Where’s the Candy?

By: Robbie Waldo-Williams & Caleb Hernandez

Where are the best places to go trick or treating between Flagstaff, Williams and Bellemont? We interviewed a few 6th, 7th, and 8th graders to give their opinion on the poll. It turned out that Bellemont had 3 votes, Flagstaff had 2 votes and Williams with only 1 vote. Our next question was why? Why Bellemont in first place? Many people said Bellemont was the best place to go trick or treating because almost every house gives out KING SIZE candy bars! We also realized that a handful of the people we asked lives in Bellemont. Anyway, if you’re looking for a good place to get some free candy, now you know where to go! I hope this helps!

Pumpkin Spice Cookies

By: Cadence Mazzone

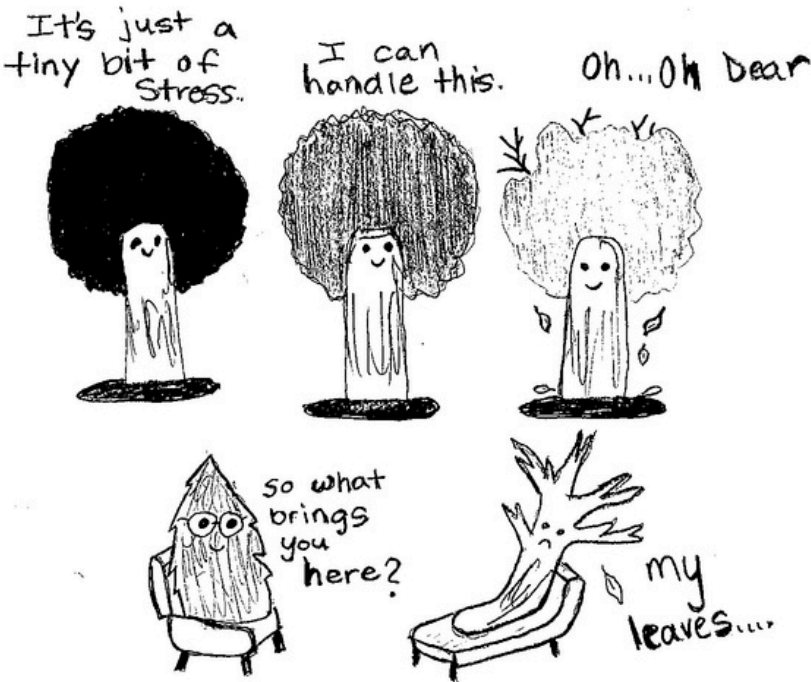

Pumpkin spice cookies are a delicious treat that brings the cozy flavors of fall into every bite. The combination of pumpkin, cinnamon, nutmeg, and ginger creates a sweet, warm flavor that is hard to resist. Their soft, chewy texture makes them even more enjoyable, especially when they're fresh out of the oven. Another reason these cookies are so delicious is their amazing smell while baking. The warm spices fill the kitchen with a comforting autumn smell. Whether enjoyed with a glass of milk, a cup of coffee, or shared with friends and family, pumpkin spice cookies are the perfect treat for the fall season. These cookies always remind me of my family, especially of my mom. She makes them every single year during this time of the season. Please scan the QR code for the recipe if you’d like to try and bake these delicious cookies!
